Brad Soto is a graduate of McNary High School in Keizer, OR. After graduating from High School, he attended Willamette University where he earned a bachelors' degree in Economics.

In 1994, Soto joined the staff at Sprague High School where he coached football for 9 years while also teaching math in the classroom. In 2003, Soto moved to Central Oregon where he accepted a teaching job at Mountain View High School, and also became an assistant coach for the Cougar football team.

He assists head coach Steve Turner on the offensive line, and has helped to teach the lineman the proper technique, making the Cougars one of the most effective running teams in the state.

Soto currently lives in Bend with his dog Cleo.
